

HUGE MUNITIONS PROFITS BARED

More Than Half Of Union Textile Workers On Strike

LEADERS SAY WALKOUT IS BIG SUCCESS

United Press Survey Reveals Over 200,000 Men Respond to Call
VIOLENCE IN SOUTH
Union Chiefs Predict That Non-union Workers to Join Strike Tomorrow

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—(UP)—Textile strike leaders said that more than 50 per cent of union workers had responded to the nation-wide strike order, and that by tomorrow 300,000 will have left their jobs.

The strike is a "tremendous success" already, the strike leaders claimed.

Francis J. Gorman, strike chief, predicted that 300,000 non-union workers would join the walkout by tomorrow, bringing the entire industry to a shutdown.

While Gorman indicated optimism as to the results of strike orders, George A. Sloan, president of the Cotton Textile Institute, said incomplete reports to him showed the walkout about 50 per cent effective.

United Press survey showed that in representative mill towns from Alabama to Maine more than 50,000 workers were out, making a strike 50 per cent effective in many areas. Various factories were operating with full force, others on skeleton shifts.

The tabulation shortly before noon stood:
Non-strikers—201,980 (incomplete).
Strikers—204,275 (complete).

Out of the south came reports of violence in Georgia and picket disturbances in the Carolinas.

In New England impartial estimates indicated the strike 45 per cent effective. Connecticut, however, was claimed by union leaders as having responded 98 per cent to the call.

Between 35 and 40 per cent of textile workers went out in the south.

"At least 85 per cent of the 600,000 men and women in the industry will strike before Saturday," Gorman predicted.

Concerning Sloan's estimates, Gorman said Sloan merely was whistling to keep up his courage.

"Other reports also fall short of giving us a true picture of the situation," Gorman said. "Our reports show that the strike is ahead of schedule both north and south. The south is running far ahead of every expectation and there is nothing but enthusiasm here at national strike headquarters."

HOOVER FLAYS "NEW DEAL" IN POST ARTICLE

Policies of Administration Declared as Peril to U. S. Liberty

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 4.—(UP)—Ex-President Herbert Hoover reappeared in public life today with an attack on the program and policies of the Roosevelt administration.

His attack took the form of a copyright article in the current issue of the Saturday Evening Post, entitled, "The Challenge to Liberty."

It was his first public comment since he turned over the White House to Franklin D. Roosevelt in March, 1933.

Mr. Hoover saw the new deal as "economic regimentation" and the thesis behind that, he said, is "the very theory that man is not the owner of the state."

He continued, "It is a usurpation of the primary liberties of man by government. It is a vast shift from the American concept of human rights, which even the government may not infringe, to those social philosophies where men are wholly subjective to the state. It is a vast casualty to liberty if it shall be continued."

Never once did the former president mention the present president by name but he included a critical digest of emergency powers granted the executive by congress, sharply criticized congress for granting them. He warned his countrymen against following "will-o'-the-wisps which lead either to the swamps of primitive greed or to political tyranny."

Sinclair In Hyde Park For Parley

Gubernatorial Candidate Not to Discuss Politics With President

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—(UP)—Upton Sinclair, former socialist and California's Democratic gubernatorial nominee, was not expected to discuss politics when he visits President Roosevelt today.

"I am not going to try to make use of the president, ask his support or tie him down in any way," Sinclair said.

After his conference at Hyde Park, Sinclair will go to Washington. First he will confer with Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator, to learn if federal funds can be used for purchasing means of production rather than for direct relief. Then he will talk to Postmaster General James A. Farley, chairman of the Democratic National committee. He promised not to embarrass Farley either.

Sinclair explained his EPIC (end party in California) program which observes credit with carrying the former bitter enemy of the present economic system to overwhelming victory in the California Democratic primary. He admits the New Deal, but wants to go further, he said. The New Deal views present unemployment as temporary, but he thinks it is permanent.

He won his nomination without making a single secret pledge to anyone.

"We haven't taken a dollar with a string tied to it," he said, "if that ever has been done before in American politics, it hasn't been brought to my attention. We turned down over a million dollars in proffered campaign funds."

"Some were offered by gamblers. All they wanted was to be assured of being left alone. Then there were the rock, sand and gravel."

DOUG DAVIS KILLED IN CLEVELAND RACE

CLEVELAND, Sept. 4.—(UP)—The death of Doug Davis, veteran pilot, whose life ended in the wreckage of a plane that crashed in the air at 245 miles an hour, was put down today to the hazards of air racing.

Unless the Department of Commerce wants an investigation into the tragic accident that marred the final day of the 1934 National Air Races yesterday, there will be none, officials said.

Davis, leading competitor in the $10,000 Thompson trophy race, crashed while rounding a pylon. Col. Roscoe Turner, following close behind, went on and finished first. More than 125,000 spectators saw the plane fall but thought the pilot had bailed out safely until two hours later his death was announced over the public address system.

POLICE REVEAL NINE TONS OF DYNAMITE HIDDEN NEAR PICKFAIR FOR FOUR MONTHS

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 4.—(UP)—Nine tons of stolen dynamite and black powder, sufficient explosive to destroy life and property within a mile radius, was cached for nearly four months within 400 yards of Pickfair, estate of Mary Pickford, screen star, police said today.

Officers said the explosives, obtained near Pickfair following the robbery. Yesterday, when the trail of suspects grew hot, a rented truck rolled into San Ysidro drive and carried away the cache. Officers said they believed the explosives had been stolen for use in a mine known to be owned by former Los Angeles bootlegger near Prescott, Ariz.

With four suspects, two men and two Long Beach women in custody in connection with an alleged attempt to sell the dynamite to a Whittier oil man, police were seeking three other men, two or three former bootleggers.

Those under arrest were Floyd H. Phillips, Fern Gay, Fred Sack and Mrs. Doris Trester.

While a detail of eight policemen scanned vacant buildings and alleys in the Wilshire and Hollywood districts in search of the dynamite, a carload of officers raced to Culver City on a tip that the explosives had been transported to that district.

HUGH JOHNSON FRAUD CHARGES TO BACK DOWN OR LOSE POST

Opposition to Reorganization Plans Will Not Be Tolerated, Said

(Copyright, 1934, by United Press)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—(UP)—Developments in the NRA dispute within the past 48 hours indicated today that the axe is swinging for General Hugh S. Johnson if he persists in opposing reorganization plans of other New Dealers.

Insiders believe Johnson is aware of the situation. He is expected to back down next week when he confers with President Roosevelt at Hyde Park. If Johnson insists upon continuing his one-man control of NRA, the chances are he will be out of a job in the relatively near future.

There are strong indications Johnson will back down and keep his job.

The nub of dispute between Johnson on one side and Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins and Donald R. Richberg on the other is:

Shall NRA become a vehicle by which industry may govern itself or shall there be a large measure of federal supervision?

Bound up with that question is Johnson's personal relationship to the blue eagle. He believes in industry should govern itself and that the federal trade commission should remain stripped of former authorities.

He also believes in anti-trust laws against monopolistic price fixing.

Petition Is Offered By 400 Voters

Rousselle Refers to Inability of District Attorney to Prosecute

IN A BITTER and somewhat acrimonious session of the city council of Newport Beach last night, a petition introduced by A. B. Rousselle, president of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce, signed by 396 voters of the city, calling for the city council to refuse licenses to games of chance in the city, was laid on the table for two weeks, to permit the opposition time to marshal their forces for a rebuttal.

In supporting his petition, which called attention to the increase in business profits since the chip games were closed by order of Sheriff Logan Jackson July 28, Rousselle referred to inability of the district attorney to successfully prosecute the operators after the sheriff has made arrests.

The petition he presented, which also pointed to the undesirable character of the city when the games are permitted to run, met with opposition from Reuben Cole, owner of a Newport boat works, and J. P. Greeley, Balboa business man.

Both Greeley and Cole defended the right of the operators of games in the city to run their business, on legal grounds. Greeley stated that convictions had never been returned against chip game operators, and that he did not see that the city council had any right to refuse them licenses.

Rousselle, in a fiery defense of the petition, stated that "games of chance are gambling, masquerading as anything else. Small games, starting at a penny are nothing more than a subterfuge. We all know what gambling is and what is not, and no amount of quibbling can disguise the facts."

He deplored the presence of such games inside the city, and their effect on possible permanent citizens, "when their children are submitted daily to such unwholesome influences."

Stating that Newport-Balboa was slipping into a "hot-dog attitude" and becoming the "Coney Island of California," Rousselle said in response to the statement that no convictions had been secured, "convictions can be made, but for some reason the district attorney cannot secure convictions, due to legal subterfuge."

He came out in favor of complete eviction of all games snacking of gambling, despite legal opinions, and the substitution of a "healthy program of sports and beach activities" for Newport-Balboa.

Asked for an opinion as to Balboa games now running in Balboa, City Attorney Roland Thompson gave as his opinion that they "are harmless, a little more rowdy, but perhaps a little more rowdy and noisy than the chip games, but still games of skill."

PLAN INQUEST IN COLUMBO'S DEATH

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 4.—(UP)—Preparations went forward today for an inquest over the body of Russ Columbo, radio and screen favorite, as physicians treated Lansing Brown Jr., famous Hollywood photographer, who accidentally shot the actor for extreme shock. Doctors said the cameraman collapsed after the tragedy in his home.

While friends and movie fans alike mourned the crooner's death, detectives marveled at the incredible freak that caused the tragedy—a bullet, accidentally fired from an ancient derringer dueling pistol, ricocheting from a table into the actor's brain.

Columbo's body was removed from the county morgue to a funeral parlor and members of his family considered plans for his funeral.

HIRAM JOHNSON HEAPS PRAISE ON ROOSEVELT

Administration Lauded by Senator; Says Expenditures Justified

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 4.—(UP)—In his first public pronouncement in months, U. S. Senator Hiram Johnson, R., Cal., showered praise on the Roosevelt administration today for having "met and measurably conquered the awful conditions of a year and a half ago."

The job has not been completed but the sky is "a little brighter" and the "overwhelming balance is to the credit of those who have guided our destinies," the famed California progressive said at a Labor day rally here.

The Republican progressive to whom the administration gave its support for the Democratic senatorial nomination particularly defended the expenditures of large sums of money in relief projects by the federal government.

"It is an easy matter to cry out against expenditures of the vast sums of money the government has given for relief," Johnson said. "It is not difficult to snarl at the method of disbursement and talk of the day of reckoning, but with vast throngs hungry without fault on their part, I ask the honest who are critical—what would they have done?"

"No government worthy of the name can permit its people to starve and any expenditure by government is justified which will relieve suffering, want and destitution. The Bourbons of today who cynically regard those who without fault on their part are unemployed and hungry may well take lessons from the Bourbons of the past."

The policies which former President Hoover inferred were "will"

LATE NEWS FLASHES

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—(UP)—A summons was served today on Rudy Vallee, orchestra leader, in what was announced as a $250,000 breach of promise suit, although the bill of complaint did not accompany the summons. HYDE PARK, N. Y., Sept. 4.—(UP)—President Roosevelt turned his meeting with Upton Sinclair into a tea party today as new dealer and "epic" planner met in the seclusion of the summer White House.

HEARINGS BY SENATE BODY ARE OPENED

European is Paid Nearly Million by American Boat Building Company, SALARIES ARE LARGE

Senator Nye Declares Munitions Firms Playing Most "Dammable Game"

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—(UP)—Sir Basil Zaroff, Europe's "mystery man," Spanish duke and Knight of the Garter, was paid $766,099 from 1919 to 1930 by the Electric Boat company of Groton, Conn., it was disclosed today at the senate's munitions investigation.

Zaroff, described by Henry R. Carse, Electric Boat president, as "one of the greatest men I ever met," received commissions in connection with submarine construction for the Spanish government.

Preparatory to opening the munitions industry probe, Sen. Gerald P. Nye, Rep., North Dakota, declared munitions companies "play a damnable game" and their huge profits constitute "a serious challenge to world peace."

As chairman of the special senate investigating committee, Nye said in a speech Saturday that "removal of the element of profit from war would materially remove the danger of more wars. My conviction is that if there was not the urge for profit from sale of instruments of war this mad competition which the world experiences now in a military way could quickly be made to vanish."

Nye attacked those who cry "lookout for Japan."

"That nation," he added, "increased military budgets by 142 per cent since 1913, but still lags behind the United States, which boosted expenditures over the same period by 197 per cent. Japan will have to raise the ante to meet America's new shipbuilding program."

FRANCES PERKINS HURT IN ACCIDENT

BRUNSWICK, Me., Sept. 4.—(UP)—Miss Frances Perkins, secretary of labor, was bruised and shaken and narrowly escaped serious injury when her big sedan tipped over on its side in a ditch here yesterday.

Police said the mishap occurred when Miss Perkins' chauffeur swerved to avoid three other cars which had jammed together.

The chauffeur and Miss Perkins' woman secretary also received minor hurts.

Miss Perkins refused medical treatment and after a short rest at a hotel continued to Boston.

BIRTH CONTROL IS OKAYED BY A. P. H. A.

PASADENA, Calif., Sept. 4.—(UP)—Shocked by the growing mortality of mothers in childbirth, Dr. Haven Emerson, president of the American Public Health Association, in conversation here, today was on record as advocating birth control in the United States.

"Let us for the sake of these women give them the knowledge that will permit them to choose the time and circumstances of their own child bearing," Dr. Emerson said. He pointed out that the United States stood 33rd on the list of civilized nations in maternal mortality.

expressed full confidence in the election boards.

The resolution was passed after M. L. Castleman, member of one precinct election board, declared that he "vehemently objected to the wording of the letter of complaint" and urged that the names of citizens making the charges through Martin be required by the council as "protection to the members of the election board and citizens concerned." Castleman hinted strongly at retaliatory measures "following our vindication."

The only note of indignation against fraud was sounded by Councilman Irvin George Gordon, who urged passage of a resolution ordering an investigation, and spoke of the "alienable rights of American citizens being infringed upon." Otherwise, indignation all was directed against those making the charges.

Councilman Paul Ellsworth presented the resolution that was passed, and which referred repeatedly to "charges appearing in the Santa Ana Register." Mayor Hilmer had officially received the same charges from Attorney Martin. He claimed he received Martin's letter two hours after reading the charges in The Register.

The attorney, who stated that he represented a group of Newport Beach citizens, listed 16 different types of violations of the election laws, some misdemeanors and others felonies, which he charged occurred at the last municipal election. These referred to illegal voting, tampering with voting lists, and illegal conduct of the polls by election boards.

Two members of the council, Lloyd Claire and A. J. Garfield, were elected at the election last April.

fixing. Richberg, who was second man in the NRA setup and now is secretary of the executive council, joins Miss Perkins in demanding a firm federal control over industry.

The United Press was informed on unimpeachable authority that the breach between Johnson and other key New Dealers began almost a year ago, soon after NRA began to function. Informed persons make the unqualified charge that Johnson has refused consistently to co-operate in the administration's general attack on depression. The recent, much-publicized row among Johnson, Richberg and Miss Perkins merely brought public attention to a situation which has troubled the White House for some months.

of the wisps" in a copyrighted Saturday Evening Post article found a supporter in Johnson, who recalled that "the bog man of unconstitutionality" was raised against his own "new deal" for California when he was governor 20 years ago.

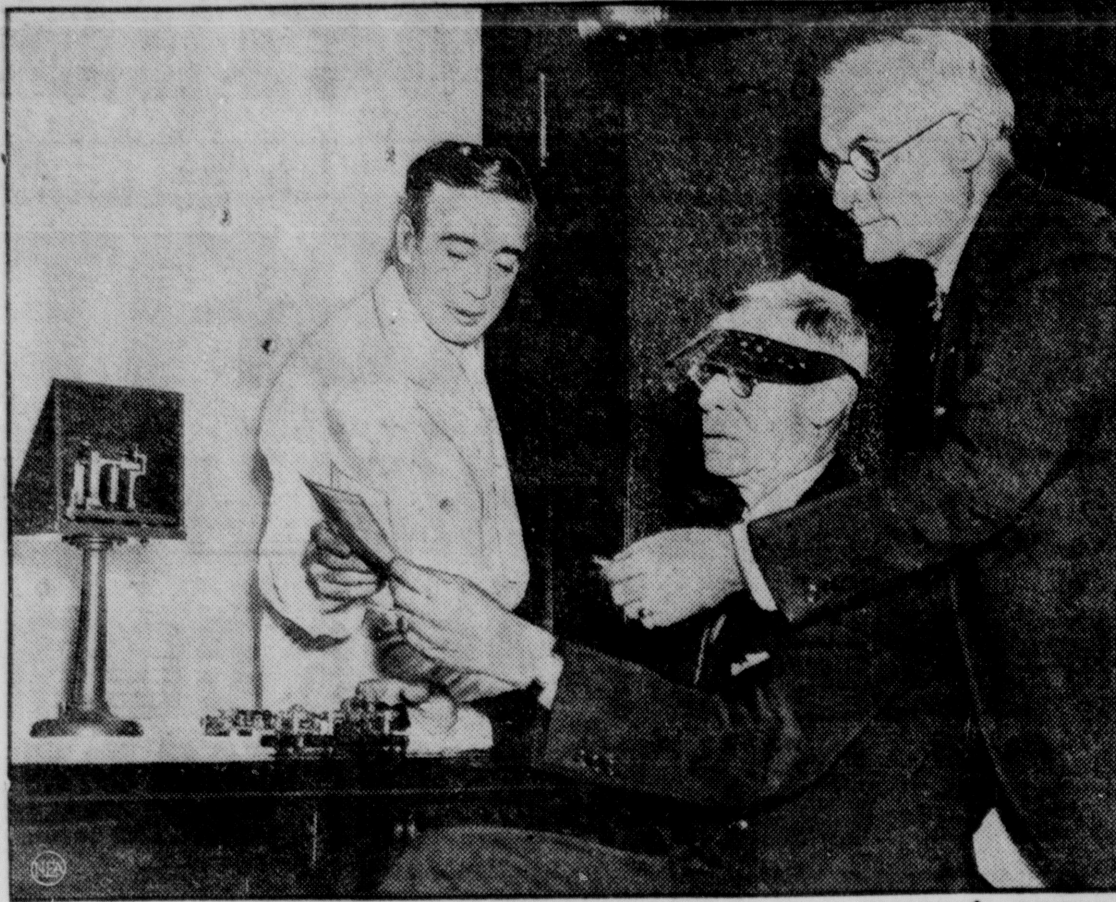

"The pretense and insincerity which we contemptuously thrust aside in California we can in the nation treat with the same disdain and unconcern," the senator said.

Johnson admitted that the battle was far from won and that blunders had been made, but he said "wise men will profit from their blunders and a government, such as we have today, pledged to the highest idealism, will reconstruct where necessary and continue with its righteous human policy until the goal is reached."

TRAFFIC WRECKS COSTLY

Insurance losses total about $20,000,000 yearly and approximately $7,000,000 is paid out in losses not covered by insurance companies.

He said: "For the first time in two generations, the American people are faced with the primary issue of humanity and all government—the issue of human liberty."

He continued: "Our system has at all times had to contend with internal encroachments upon liberty. Greed in economic agencies invades it from the right, and greed for power and government infringes it from the left."

"I should be glad indeed to find a short cut to end the struggle with the immensities of human problems. I have no word of criticism but rather a great sympathy with those who honestly search human experience and human thought for some new way out, where freedom requires no safeguard, where justice requires no striving, where bread comes without contention and with little sweat."

"Such dreams are not without value, and one could join in them with satisfaction but for the mind troubled by recollection of human frailty, and but for the woe of confirmations which the world has given of the failure of idealism alone, without the compass of experience."

"It is now claimed by large and vocal groups, both in and out of government, that liberty has failed; that emergency encroachments upon its principles should be made permanent. Thereby are created the most urgent issues: First, whether we must submit to some other system by which the fundamentals of liberty are sacrificed; and, second, whether, even if we make these sacrifices, we shall not defeat the hope and process of humanity."

Ickes Says Hoover Backing Exploiter

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—(UP)—Former President Herbert Hoover today was accused by Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes of championing "the liberty of the exploiter."

Commenting on the former president's magazine article charging the Roosevelt administration with depriving citizens of traditional liberties, Ickes said:

"He does not seem to be concerned with the liberty of the average man and woman to have decent living conditions and jobs at fair wages. The liberty that he talks about, it seems to me, is the liberty of the exploiter."

"Mr. Hoover," said Ickes, "seems to be defending the liberty of privilege. He is defending the class that doesn't want to let go of anything it has."

He made the same criticism of Sen. William E. Borah, R., Ida., who recently charged that the administration was violating traditional American rights of individuals.

"They are raising a straw man and beating him down," Ickes asserted.

"Whose liberty is being disturbed? It is only the liberty of a small group, who by fair means or foul, has been able to acquire property by exploitation of the mass of the people."

Ickes likewise assailed the charges of administration critics that the government is moving toward regimentation.

"The government hasn't regimented anyone, but industry has. Look at your big factories where a man pulls one lever all day long and there you will see real regimentation."

CHAPLIN IS RICHEST MAN IN HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 4.—(UP)—Charlie Chaplin, who makes motion pictures on very rare occasions, still is the wealthiest man in Hollywood, the county tax collector revealed today in his annual roundup of records.

Stocks and bonds, a film studio and a large Beverly Hills home compose the wealth that came from a cane, mustache, and a pair of baggy pants. Total valuation of the property was set at $3,279,350.

William P. (Will) Rogers owns horses, mules, cows, houses and things worth more than $1,000,000. Mary Pickford's wealth is nearly $2,000,000 while Douglas Fairbanks' just tops the $1,000,000 mark.

Paris traffic policemen have been equipped with "halos," in the form of luminous helmets, as a safety measure so they can be seen easily by motorists at crossings.

McAdoo pointed out that he had supported George Creel in the primary. Asked whether he would see Sinclair, who is here to visit President Roosevelt, McAdoo said:

BEACH OFFICER IS DISCHARGED

SEAL BEACH, Sept. 4.—Police Commissioners Tim Hussey and Jack Weidner have served summary notice of dismissal upon Police Officer James A. Marousek, it became known today. The dismissal, which was made during the absence of Mayor E. J. Hughes who is on vacation, becomes effective September 12. Marousek, it is understood, is to be replaced by T. L. Burns, special officer said to be a personal friend of the commissioners and formerly employed at the Seal Inn cafe.

Marousek has been a member of the police force for the past five years.

NEW REGULATIONS FOR STOCK MARKET

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—(UP)—The halter which the government has been weaving for use on those who use inside information on stocks to manipulate prices will be tightened this week.

The securities and exchange commission plans to issue new regulations that will end boom-time practices whereby favored speculators profited at the expense of the public.

The wiles of the inside traders have been marked by their absence in Wall Street lately. Federal officers have no hope that conditions will stay this way indefinitely without specific regulations as to what may be done.

SENATE PROBE OF MUNITIONS OPENED TODAY

on all incomes over $10,000 during the war period.

Other developments of the first session of the widely-heralded munitions investigations in the senate caucus room included:

1—The Electric Boat company and the huge British Vickers-Armstrong munitions makers split profits and divided the world into zones where each was supreme in bidding for contracts. The Electric company, submarine builders, had the United States, Cuba, and countries where the United States exercised control. Vickers reserved the right to seek business in Great Britain, Canada, Ireland and India.

2—The American firm received 40 per cent of Vickers profits in some cases and 50 in others.

Huge Salaries

3—Salaries and expenses paid to four executives of the Electric company amounted to $1,326,494.34 from 1919 to August, 1934.

4—Electric company submarine patents were licensed to Vickers and through the British firm passed to Japan, Holland and Spain.

5—Company officials denied that the United States ever was refused use of the patents but the committee chairman introduced a letter from the Electric company to one of its Paris representatives saying, "We have never assented to the United States government building our type of boat."

6—Various munitions firms paid royalties to the Electric company totaling more than $4,000,000.

Stories about Zarahoff, a Greek who built a tremendous fortune after starting his career as a small builder of undersea craft, have been written romantically in all parts of the world.

The Spanish payment plan was part of a general agreement between Electric Boat and the powerful Vickers under which the companies split profits and divided territories.

"There have been all sorts of stories about Zarahoff," Carse told the senate committee. "He had a very brilliant mind."

Zarahoff Payments

Sen. Bennett Clark, D., Mo., read into the record a partial list showing that the Electric Boat company paid Zarahoff the following sums:

1926—$67,309.
1927—$33,327.
1929—$35,744.
1930—$77,833.

Royalty payments to the Electric included:

By Vickers, $2,222,257;
By Mitsubishi, a Japanese concern licensed through Vickers, $196,245;

An unidentified Dutch firm licensed through Vickers, $54,060;

An unidentified Australian firm licensed through Vickers, $31,408;

De Scheide, a Dutch firm partly through direct licenses and partly through Vickers, $310,272;

"S E C Naval" a Spanish munitions firm, $1,020,530.

Pair Commissions

Evidence showed that Zarahoff was most influential in obtaining business for the Electric Company in Spain. Zarahoff commissions on these contracts amounted to 5 per cent.

"Was Sir Basil interested in Vickers?" Nye asked.

"I don't know," Carse said, "I heard at one time that he had a controlling interest."

"But Vickers is, generally speaking, a British concern?"

"That's right," Carse replied.

Carse had difficulty defining the exact arrangement under which Zarahoff was paid.

"Five per cent was set aside for Sir Basil on the Spanish business."

"Is that five per cent agreement still in effect?" Clark asked.

"Yes."

"Why was it," Clark continued, "that when you are working on commission, the payments to Sir Basil are made through you?"

"I don't know," Carse began, and then said, "Sir Basil secured that business for us. He held it for us under very keen competition."

Sen. Bone broke in to ask:

"What services did Sir Basil render Great Britain to be made a knight, or to Spain to be made a duke?"

"I don't know," Carse replied.

Someone laughed, and Carse turned sharply, demanding, "What are you laughing at?"

Nye was asked if "bribery" was resorted to by Vickers and Electric Boat in their quest for business.

WILL ROGERS says:

LENINGRAD, Sept. 4.—(To the Editor of The Register:.) Well, we are finally on the track of Finland. Found a pilot who is going to leave here with us in the morning and take us by way of Estonia and land us in Helsinki. That's the place I been looking for for a month.

Just like these folks to move their capital from a beautiful city like this to Moscow. Saw the opening of the great opera in Moscow Saturday night, new drama last night there, and tonight the ballet in the real home of the Russian ballet. Saw Leningrad's old stock exchange today; would hate to tell you what it is now; boys, you better behave.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

Carse said he believed the British government was ignorant of the Vickers-Electric Boat agreements, but that Spear had advised the United States navy department about them.

Favors Majority

In answering the petitioners who signed the request before the council, Councilman Irvin George Gordon warned all persons interested that the city body could have no choice but to abide by the will of the majority, and that if more people wanted the games out than in, he for one would vote for their eviction.

The matter was laid over until September 17, the next regular meeting of the council, in order to permit those in favor of the games to present a counter petition. On request of Councilmen Gordon and Hilmer, the city attorney will present at that time a written opinion as to what, in his mind, constitutes gambling.

Voters Thanked
By County Clerk

County Clerk Joe Backs, re-elected to his office without opposition at the primaries last week, having somewhat caught up with the burdensome task of running an election, today thanked his friends for their loyal support at the polls.

"Naturally, I am pleased that I received the highest total of votes of any candidate on the ticket," Backs said, "and will continue to serve to the best of my ability and exert the confidence the citizens of Orange county have placed in me."

NEW STUDENTS AT HIGH SCHOOL ON WEDNESDAY

With Principal D. K. Hammond and several of his assistants in charge, Santa Ana High school will open its office tomorrow to interview new students planning to enroll from outside districts. Returning Santa Anans—who are in doubt concerning their credits also may come tomorrow, according to Hammond.

Office hours will be from 9 to 12 o'clock in the morning and from 1 to 4 in the afternoon. Complete information, including a catalog of courses, will be furnished new students. Vice Principals W. M. Clayton and Lynn H. Crawford will be at their desks to answer questions.

Principal Hammond today stressed the fact that all graduates of Julia C. Lathrop and Frances E. Willard junior high schools will be accommodated at the high school plant.

"With the removal of the junior college from the Walnut and Ross street campus, we have ample room to house all prep students," the principal stated.

Although several schools in the county will open September 10, Santa Ana classes will not begin until September 17. Next week has been reserved for registration, definite dates for which will be announced later, Hammond said.

INQUEST ARRANGED IN HUNTER'S DEATH

An inquest into the death of E. E. Darling, 40, 1308 North Broadway, who was accidentally killed while dove hunting in Aliso canyon Saturday morning, will be held tomorrow at 3 p. m. from the Harrell and Brown funeral home by Coroner Earl Abbey.

Funeral services will be held Friday, at an hour to be announced later, and interment will be at Sawtelle in the veterans cemetery.

Darling was hunting with his wife when his gun was accidentally discharged.

He received the full charge in the heart and died instantly. Other hunters brought the body to the Santa Ana Valley hospital.

Darling was employed by a San Diego motor firm and spent week ends in Santa Ana.

THREE INJURED MEMORY BACK, IN ACCIDENTS MAN RETURNS OVER HOLIDAY TO COLORADO

Despite unusually heavy traffic on all county highways because of the holiday week end, only three persons suffered injuries yesterday in addition to those previously reported injured.

James W. Smith, 16, Long Beach, was slightly hurt yesterday afternoon when his car skidded on gravel in Irvine park and struck an embankment.

When a truck driven by Joe Del George, Buena Park, and a car operated by Joe Wilson Jr., Los Angeles, collided on Orange-thorpe avenue near Brookhurst last night, Wilson was slightly hurt. It was reported to officers that the lights of Del George's truck were not burning.

Mrs. Margaret Grove received minor injuries yesterday when the car in which she was riding with her husband, Paul Grove Jr., of Beverly Hills, was struck by another car at Los Angeles street and Broadway in Anaheim. Mrs. Grove received arm injuries but was able to continue to her home without medical treatment.

Two men confined in the Orange County hospital from a wreck Sunday on Santa Ana boulevard were transferred from the hospital yesterday. Dick Palmer, 16, Pomona, who received a brain concussion and lacerations, was taken to Pomona, while Encarnacion Estrada, 33, Los Angeles, driver of the truck which caused the wreck, according to police records, was taken to Los Angeles suffering from concussion of the brain and other injuries.

Neubert Perrin, 2525 North Main street, reported to police last night that following a minor collision at Buffalo and Main streets, he was struck and knocked down by the other driver. Perrin said he had followed the other car for two blocks without being able to pass and finally proceeding around the other machine. Forced to cut in by approaching traffic, his rear bumper locked with the front bumper of the other car, he said. The other driver knocked him down without warning hit him again and then speeded off, Perrin reported. Witnesses secured the license number of the car and notified police.

noon, and finally fainted in the hospital. He fell to the floor and struck his head, which seemed to bring him back to normal.

It developed that Willard had gone from Denver to San Francisco to attend the American Legion convention, and then came to Los Angeles to visit friends. He disappeared a week ago Thursday, carrying $480 in cash, a valuable diamond and a wrist watch, all of which he believes stolen from him by two men and a woman who forced him to drink from a flask at the point of a gun.

He originally planned to sail to Portland, and was kidnapped when he came from a steamship office to complete arrangements for his passage, he said. After drinking, he lost his memory. Hospital attendants said his recovery from amnesia corresponded to that of typical victims of this malady. Willard suffered shell shock during the World war, and since that time, according to friends, he has been the victim of nervous breakdowns.

AUTHOR OF ACT

Frank Watson, below, author of the new National Housing Act passed by congress, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Watson at Orange.

partment of the Interior as assistant to the solicitor; in October we find him with the treasury department and in January, 1934, he was back with the R. F. C. immediately on his return from the National Emergency Council for the purpose of drafting the Housing act. How well he succeeded is shown by the rapidity with which congress passed the bill and the few amendments they made.

"Watson admits that his work is just begun. Although the act is designed to function automatically from Washington headquarters there are a great many elements to be worked out in the organization. In the first point of the program, renovation and repair little difficulty is anticipated. In the billion dollar mortgage insurance undertaking a thorough study of mortgage laws in the several states must be made and radical changes made in some.

"Watson was graduated from Harvard in the ranks of cum laude. He was on the editorial staff of the Harvard Law Review and president of the Sutherland Law club. It is interesting to know that he is one of the many who worked their way through school."

"It's toasted"

Your throat protection—against irritation—against cough

By HARRY GRAYSON

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—(UP)—Pug Renner, of Northwestern; Tiger Walton, Pittsburgh guard; Arenz, St. Louis back, and Frank Ingram, from the Pacific coast, John Cliff Battles in Boston, Herman Everhardus, Michigan back, and Tom Hupke, Alabama guard, give the Detroit Lions some of the reserve strength the team lacked, as the Portsmouth Spartans in 1933.

Joe Skladany, Pitt's All-American end, is to be a teammate of the battering Angel Brovelli at Pittsburgh.

Rambling Whitey Randour of Villanova, Frank Cowhig of Fordham and Stan Pileonis of Temple increase the drive of the Philadelphia Eagles.

College men do not look down upon the pro game as so many of them formerly did.

Few coaches now say to seniors in the last day of the season, "This is your last game of football."

Ice hockey, the lightning-like game that came out of the north to take eastern and midwestern cities by storm, is the only professional sport that has matched strides with pro football in growth in the last several years.

With increased popularity came substantial salaries. The average is $2000, with the Granges, Friedmans, Cagles and Newmans collecting considerably more.

1934 PARADE OF PRO GRID STARS

Among those making their bows this year are:

Ed Danowski, Fordham flashy back; Harris Stafford, a thrill producer with the Army players last fall, who attracted All-American comment at Texas the season before, and John Norby and Willis Smith, of Idaho, who report to the New York Giants on that aggregation's tenth birthday.

McLEMORE SURPRISED AT MANNER MERCER BEASLEY ACCEPTS ROYAL KIDDING

BY HENRY McLEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—(UP)—A wealthy man would place his boy or girl under a professional's care and tell the pro to teach the kid. The pro, who could estimate the father's wealth to a dime, would keep stringing the boy or girl along until there was no more pay coming. It was the same sort of thing that unethically doctors do with wealthy patients—they don't cure 'em too quick for fear of losing a fat fee.

"Well, I thought I'd be different. When I got a pupil I taught him all I could, as quick as I could, and told him to get out and practice and play until he mastered the thing. That's what I did with Vines, with Carroll Babcock, and with Frankie Parker. And speaking of Vines—a lot of people say I had nothing to do with the improvement of his game—well, sometimes I'll show you a letter from Billy giving me credit for making him a real tennis player. And the fact that he offered me the job of managing him when he turned pro would indicate he thinks something of me. I didn't take it, of course. If I had people would say I taught tennis in order to turn my pupils professionals and then, like a price fight manager, take a cut of their earnings."

As a final shot Beasley gave me permission to kid him all I wanted to.

"Just spell the name right, boy, that's all I ask. When you're a pro, every knock's a boost."

But I didn't. Because the man unarmed me right off the bat. He laughed at the ridicule, and what he more, admitted that a lot of it was justifiable, but—and this left me looking for an answer—he asked me, in my profound wisdom, to name a tennis coach—a professional teacher of the game—who had turned out as many good players as he had.

"I don't claim to be any genius," Beasley said, "and I know that many of my methods of teaching the game lend themselves to kidding." (He was speaking of playing red discs on the court and having his pupils drive at them until they could pop the ball's eye regularly, or teaching 24 strokes and no more and of making his pupils follow a chart, a pattern, when playing, just as though they were cutting out a dress.) "But damn it, I know the game of tennis, and I know how to teach it. A lot of the kidding I get is inspired by my fellow professionals. This is only natural, too, because teaching tennis used to be a racket until I came along."

OILERS, ALL-STARS IN SECOND GAME

OREGON STATE NEEDS TACKLES TO GAIN FAME

(The following story tells the 1934 prospects of Oregon State college, where the "11 iron men" made a great record last season. Next, the University of Washington.)

CORVALLIS, Ore., Sept. 4.—(UP)—If Lon Stiner can find a pair of tackles among his reserves and his new junior college transfers, Oregon State may achieve this year some such fame as came to her immortal "11 iron men" who stopped U. S. C. and defeated Fordham in 1933.

Stiner will have Norman "Red" Franklin, his sensational All-American left halfback, and one of the best drawing cards of the Pacific coast. It was Franklin's two goals from kickoff—against San Francisco and Fordham—plus the "iron men" tie with U. S. C., which brought Stiner a 1934 schedule which is at the same moment very tough but very lucrative. The Beavers open the season in a double-header against Willamette and Pacific Sept. 22, and then on succeeding week ends play San Francisco, Stanford, Columbia of Oregon, Southern California, Washington State, Washington, Oregon, Montana and U. C. L. A.—not a "breather" until the Montana game and that too late.

Stiner, in his second year as head coach at Oregon State, faces the season without 12 of his 1933 lettermen. Most serious is the loss of his tackles, Adolph "Tar" Schwammel, All-American; Harry Field, the giant Hawaiian, and Don Wagner. Competing for these positions are two transfers, Earl Hall, 225-pounder from Los Angeles Junior college, and Claire Bentley from Pasadena Junior college. The eligibles from the freshman and reserve ranks of last year include John King, Hal Brown, Bob Rushing and Ernie Bears. None were considered first-stringers last year and unless two of them develop, the Beavers are unlikely to go far in that tough schedule.

Woody Joslin, a veteran end will hold the left flank, and Maynard Schultz, another letterman, the right. Reserve ends include another transfer from Pasadena Junior college, and Milt Campbell from last year's squad.

Bill Tomschek, a veteran guard who was kept out of play after the San Francisco game last year, will hold down the right guard position with Dan Mitola, and Stan McClurg, both lettermen, backing him up. Melvin Beatty, last year's reserve, Jack Woerner, a transfer from Sacramento Junior college, and Ed Strack, are in a battle for the left guard position.

Stiner has no worries at center with gigantic Clyde Devine, who gained fame last year when he was hoisted high in the air to block tries for points by Field and Schwammel, back in the pivot position.

Hal Fangle—one of the iron men—will return as quarterback. Fangle is a superb blocker and has also developed into a ball carrier as well.

Ray Woodman, sophomore, who was a Portland all-star when he played for Jefferson high school, will make an excellent substitute for Fangle.

Backing Franklin will be Bob Patrick and Willard Jarvis, both lettermen.

Ed "Toad" McIntosh probably will be the starting right half, and Arnold Heikinen, a two-year letterman, will be at fullback. Dick Joslin, third of the family, however, will be in there fighting for a chance to replace his brother, Hal Joslin of 1933 fame.

The schedule:

Sept. 22—Willamette and Pacific at Corvallis.
Sept. 28—San Francisco at Corvallis (night game).
Oct. 6—Stanford at Portland.
Oct. 12—Columbia at Corvallis (night game).
Oct. 20—Southern California at Los Angeles.
Oct. 27—Washington State at Pullman.
Nov. 3—Washington at Seattle.
Nov. 10—Oregon at Portland.
Nov. 17—Montana at Corvallis.
Nov. 24—U.C.L.A. at Los Angeles.

Yessir! The Tigers Think They're In

Although the Detroit Tigers' officials have been reluctant to fill early demands for world series tickets, thinking it would bring a lot of bad luck to Mickey Cochrane's boys, they've gone ahead and enlarged Navin Field in anticipation of overflow crowds at the classic. The above photo shows workmen making alterations which are expected to increase capacity of the Tigers' home field by several thousands.

FOUR LEADERS TO BATTLE IN MIDGET RACES

Bill Betteridge, Chet Mortemore, Everett Balmer, "Curly" Mills—those are the four names which will attract principal attention when the midget racing cars roar around the track in the Santa Ana Bowl tomorrow night.

Betteridge, the champion, is being hard pressed to stave off the speed of Mortemore, Balmer and Mills and is no clinch to win a single race this week. His red No. 7 led the field for many weeks with monotonous regularity but the other drivers have started winning occasional races and two weeks ago here, he was shut out during the entire evening.

Added interest will be shown in a special five-lap match race between Bob Swanson and Balmer, who raced to a dead heat in a grudge race last week. Balmer has made only three appearances here and is fast learning how to get the maximum speed out of his car while broadsiding the turns in the Bowl.

Racing fans who get a kick out of the kids' push car races will be entertained as usual with a one-lap feature. The cars will be qualified tomorrow morning so that the speediest crews can thrill the crowds at night.

Gate prizes will be offered as is customary.

CRONIN OUT WITH FRACTURED ARM

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—(UP)—Joe Cronin, Washington manager and shortstop, was out for the season today after breaking his right forearm in the first game of yesterday's doubleheader with the Boston Red Sox.

Cronin was unable to accompany his teammates to St. Louis but will rejoin them after several days. Physicians said there was no chance he would be able to play baseball until next year.

The accident in which the break occurred came in the seventh inning. Cronin hit down the first baseline and first baseman Eddie Morgan went into right field to cover the ball. Wes Ferrell, Red Sox pitcher came over to first base. Cronin, trying to beat the throw to the sack, collided with Ferrell. He somersaulted to the ground, lighting on his wrist.

Although he managed to finish the last two innings of the game, he was rushed to the hospital as soon as physician's examined the wrist.

Al Schacht, coach, will manage the team until Cronin's return.

TO TRY FOR NEW RECORDS AT MEET

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 4.—(UP)—Headed by such stellar performers as Jack Medica and Olive McKean of the Washington Athletic club, Seattle, Pacific coast cities are preparing to make an assault on existing records in the far western A. A. U. swimming championships in the Los Angeles swimming stadium Sunday.

Last year Medica lowered the world marks for the 800 and 1000 meter events, but this year he will concentrate on the shorter distances, entering the 50, 100 and 400 meter swims.

In these events he will have Paul Wolfe, Los Angeles Athletic Club ace, as his chief competitor. Wolfe last year defeated Medica in the 100 meter event and turned in a record time in the 50 meter swim.

Forest Lawn Net Tourney Is Deferred

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 4.—(UP)—Today's play in the men's national tennis championship was postponed because of rain. The matches scheduled for today will be played tomorrow.

Among the important winners who move into the third round of play will be Sidney Wood, slim New Yorker, who stroked his way to easy victory over Ellsworth Davenport, the Harvard; George Lott, who outslashed Ernest Sutter of New York and Greg Mangin, former indoor champion from Newark, who beat Ralph Demott of Princeton.

Berkley Bell, seeded third, and Frankie Parker of Lawrenceville, N. J., advanced by default. Gene Mako, intercollegiate champion, was among the dozen who moved on, trouncing J. Gilbert Hall of South Orange, N. J., who last week beat Mako's fellow Californian, Lester Stoecken.

MAX BAER AND YOUNG CORBETT RETURN MONEY

MONTEREY, Cal., Sept. 4.—(UP)—A beau geste which cost heavyweight champion Max Baer and his lighter contemporary, weight title contender, in the Young Corbett, III, Fresno middle-neighborhood of $1,000 added new followers to the fighters' group of supporters today.

Corbett and Baer were guaranteed $250 and $500, respectively, plus expenses, to referee several bouts on a fight card staged last night by the Monterey American Legion post. Receipts were to be used to send the post's drum and bugle corps to the National convention at Miami.

Yesterday afternoon, post officials discovered proceeds would not defray the cost of staging the bouts.

In walked Champion Maxie and his manager, Ancel Hoffman. They announced, in view of the circumstances, they couldn't accept the money they had been guaranteed.

"We'll turn back the $500," Max said.

Corbett likewise insisted he would accept no money for his appearance. He also paid his own expenses.

Then Eddie Burns, who refereed all preliminaries, made it unanimous by donating his services.

WINNERS OF 4 GOLF MATCHES ARE ANNOUNCED

Fullerton and Irvine, deadlocked for the championship of the second half of the Orange County night baseball league, pair off at 8 o'clock tonight in the Santa Ana Municipal Bowl for a one-game playoff.

The winner of the Fullerton-Irvine match will oppose Brea, first-half champion, for the 1934 pennant. No date for this game has been selected.

Since both teams showed plenty of class in winning 11 of their 14 assignments, Fullerton and Irvine will go to the post on even terms.

The Irvine Beantpickers will build their team around W. Seacord, p; Hankmier, c; Buxton, 1b; Padias, 2b; E. Seacord, 3b; Cook, ss; Sears, if; Ahern, cf; and Staples, rf. Fullerton probably will employ Tucker, p; Struck, c; Curtis, 1b; Reno, 2b; W. Jones, ss; Rogers, 3b; Pepper, if; Shell, cf; and R. Jones, rf.

Two National league umpires will be assigned by President George Peterkin of that circuit to work the game, according to President Bill Cole of the Orange county league.

LAWRENCE, Kan.—(UP)—Two thousand cubic yards of Kaw river bottom soil were removed to the site of old Snow hall at the University of Kansas to insure growth of foliage used in landscaping the tract. Soil on the crest of Mount Oread, where the university is situated, was found to be too sterile for even hardy plants.

MAJORS MAY TAKE 2 MINOR HURLERS

By United Press

The two pitchers in Pacific Coast league ranks believed most certain to graduate to the major leagues are Fay Thomas of Los Angeles and Lefty Herrmann of San Francisco, tied today at 24 victories each.

Thomas, former U. S. C. footballer, has been the mainstay of the powerful team all season. Herrmann is filling a similar role with a club which is uncertain at bat and unsteady in the field.

The San Francisco moundman won his 24th game yesterday when the Seals defeated Hollywood twice in the holiday double bill. Ed Stutz pitched the opener for the Seals and blanked the Stars for a 4-0 win. Herrmann worked the second game and won easily, 5-2. The Seals took the series, six games to three.

S. A. Softball Team To Be Named Tonight

Final selection of ball players to constitute the Santa Ana team which will take part in the Southern California softball championship tournament, which starts September 6, will be made tonight, it was announced today by Manager Lyle Kelly.

The selection of the team will follow a game to be played between the Santa Ana 20-30 club all-stars and the Orange 20-30 team tonight at 8 o'clock on the Orange city diamond.

Santa Ana's first opponent will be Huntington Park, and the game will be played Thursday night at Fresno Field, Belvedere Gardens, Kelly announced.

COUNTY LEAGUE HALF PLAYOFF TO BE TONIGHT

Fullerton and Irvine, deadlocked for the championship of the second half of the Orange County night baseball league, pair off at 8 o'clock tonight in the Santa Ana Municipal Bowl for a one-game playoff.

SAY ERRINGTON AND SABELLA TO MEET TONIGHT

Eyes of county nightball fans today were centered on the second game of the series of five between Bill Cole's All-Stars, picked from the cream of the league, and Joe Rodgers' Oilers, winners of both halves of the National division, tonight on the Huntington Beach field.

Probably the only changes in the lineups of the two teams will be in the pitchers. Cole plans to start Fuzzy Errington on the mound instead of Jim Coates who pitched the all-star team to a 4 to 1 win last Friday night. It is believed that Rodgers will give Howard Morning a rest and will use Chico Sabella on the mound.

Alternating on Tuesdays and Fridays, the five game series, replacing the now unnecessary inter-league playoff series which customarily climaxes the National league season, the games will serve to keep Huntington Beach in shape for their Southern California playoff with winner of the American league.

| PROBABLE LINEUP |              |
|-----------------|--------------|
| OILERS          | ALL-STARS    |
| Osborn, rf      | Bell, lf     |
| McKinley, 3b    | Griffith, ss |
| Schuchardt, cf  | Ballard, c   |
| Thiery, 2b      | L. Daley, rf |
| Murray, if      | Young, 3b    |
| Rodgers, ss     | Wiseman, 1b  |
| Maness, c       | Preble, 2b   |
| Smith, 1b       | Wilcox, c    |
| Sabella, p      | Errington, p |

Cole has predicted that his team, which is a genuine all-star lineup, will take the first three of the series with Huntington Beach, but considerable interest was being shown in the game for tonight with the possibility that he might be wrong and an upset would throw the series into a tie.

Fans from all over the county are expected to flock to Huntington Beach tonight to see the game.

Hunters Use Auto for Sage Hen Trap

RED LODGE, Mont.—(UP)—Ever trap sage hens with an automobile for bait? Four men did near here recently.

They were Dr. L. A. Gates, James Hughes, John Johantone and Ellis Shriver. With one gun among them, they trapped from their car in pursuit of a flock of hens. They shot three, but the gun jammed.

When they returned to the machine some hours later, however, they found that the birds had pecked a hole through the rear window and were roosting in the car.

They plugged up the hole, and brought 'em back alive.

FESTIVAL ADDS TO FINANCES OF ART GROUP

LAGUNA BEACH, Sept. 4.—With the 1934 annual festival of arts written into the history of the art colony, cash balances of local commercial establishments as well as that of the association staging the big show, revealed a healthy gain. While no definite figures were obtainable, it was admitted by officials of the festival association as well as by hotel managers and restaurant men that the number of out-of-town visitors during the festival week exceeded by far that of any former event.

Due to the effective assistance given by the Orange county state highway patrol, two or more officers being stationed here during the festival season, an unusually heavy motor and pedestrian traffic, traversing the city in different directions, was handled without any serious mishap. Sunday afternoon every foot of parking space was taken up by cars of visitors, street parking extending almost up to the mouth of the canyon.

Miss Helen Alser, of 1710 Loma Vista, Pasadena, a beautiful brunette of pure classical features, whose forefathers were burghers of the ancient city of Prague, was elected queen of the Slavic festival with ceremonies that were colorful, if not as ancient as those of the historical city. The election followed a parade of feminine beauty attired in gorgeous native dresses, some of which represented not only years of hard work but also small fortunes. One magnificent Montenegrin dress had once graced the wardrobe of the queen of that country, it was announced.

An interesting feature of last night's program was an impromptu offering by Samuel C. Pierce, well known radio artist, making his home here, who presented a good-natured burlesque in connection with the K H J program "Calling the Cars," revealing methods of making sound effects and presenting different characters by the same actor.

Miss Priscilla Fraser, well known artist of Emerald Bay, won the $15 cash matinee door prize and that of evening admissions, amounting to $25 went to Mrs. R. J. Kenson, of Pasadena.

Tickets, on sale by the various business houses and representatives of the organizations mentioned will admit the holder to the program, card section, refreshments, and a chance at the door prize.

POSTAL RECEIPTS SET NEW RECORD

LAGUNA BEACH, Sept. 4.—All records for stamp sales at the local postoffice, including those covering former Christmas holiday periods, were broken by the month of August, just drawn to a close, showing a total of $2541.88, or almost $90 a day, as compared to August of last year, when sales aggregated $2356.93, according to Brayton Norton, local postmaster.

The continual increase in postal receipts, it was explained by the postmaster, reflects not only an appreciable increase in seasonal business, but also a steady community development. Inquiries also revealed that, with the aid of the chamber of commerce, representations will be made through Congressman Sam Collins to secure city carrier service for Laguna.

SERVICE STATION BANDIT GETS $25

Using a gun to hold up E. R. Marr, attendant at the Union service station at Seventeenth and Broadway, a bandit escaped with $25 from the cash register about 10 o'clock last night. It was reported to police.

Marr said the man drove into the station and asked for the address of Marr's brother. When the attendant went into the station to write the address on a slip of paper, he found himself looking into a gun. The bandit forced him to walk to the station rest room 50 feet away and then took the money and speeded away in his car.

The bandit was described as being 30 years of age, 5 feet 7 1/2 inches tall, weighing 135 to 145 pounds and was wearing a light grey suit and soft felt hat.

The car he was driving was a 1929 Ford coupe, painted blue with white wheels, Marr said.

APPRECIATION IS TOLD BY COLLINS

Congressman Sam L. Collins, who was renominated by an overwhelming vote in the primary election Tuesday, today issued the following statement of appreciation:

"I am sincerely grateful to the voters of my district for the splendid endorsement given me at the polls in this election. The sweeping majority by which I was named the Republican nominee is very much appreciated. The fact that I have apparently received the Democratic nomination is evidence to me that my constituents feel that I have, during my term in congress, tried to faithfully and conscientiously represent the people as a whole, without regard to class or creed."

"I shall endeavor in the future by my work and record to merit the continued approval of the many who have given me their endorsement at this time."

BEE CAUSES WRECK
NEVADA CITY, Cal. (UP)—A hit-and-run bee, license unknown, was the cause of an accident here. The bee stung Albert Eckman, driver of the car. Eckman, thinking the windshield had been broken and that he had been hit by flying glass, ducked his head and lost control of the car. The machine went over a low embankment and the windshield really was broken.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG — News Behind The News —

WASHINGTON
By George Durne

PRESSURE

The inside story of how that bloody truck strike in Minneapolis was settled is a honey. It makes an especially good Labor Day yarn.

If you will recall, there really were two strikes and plenty of rough stuff was pulled in both. Governor Floyd B. Olson, Farmer-Laborite, finally declared martial law and called out the guardsmen—although for once the troops apparently were placed in charge for the purpose of helping labor win a strike rather than stopping one. Father Francis J. Haas of the NRA Labor Advisory Board and E. H. Dunnigan, veteran Labor Department conciliator, rushed to the scene, and after many weary hours drafted a settlement agreement which the strikers immediately accepted and the employers ultimately signed.

Here's the lowdown on events which led up to that eventual armistice.

Olson, as America's only Farmer-Labor governor, naturally is a champion of organized labor. He looked into the Minneapolis truck drivers' grievances and decided they were in the right. Followed the declaration of martial law in the city.

Then, day by day, the pugnacious governor thought up new methods of Chinese torture to inflict upon the balky employers. Only trucks licensed by the National Guard could move—and Olson saw to it that vitally essential licenses weren't issued.

Finally, Olson revived a defunct farm marketing cooperative. He took over a downtown area normally used for parking autos and turned it into a market place to which the farmers could haul their produce and sell direct.

The pinch on the commission men was immediate and appalling. They could see their business going right up in smoke. Their representatives called on Gov. Olson. Said they, in effect:

"We're ready to call quits and sign the Haas-Dunnigan agreement. The only rub is our bankers won't let us. They (the bankers) say Minneapolis always has been an open-shop town, and further that this strike is being led by Communists. They insist we fight to the finish."

Later that day Olson was talking to a Washington newspaper correspondent of distinctly liberal leanings who had gone out to Minneapolis to cover the strike for his paper. The Governor related what had been told him earlier.

"Wait a minute," said the reporter. "Does that bank owe the RFC any money?"

"Does it?" Olson came back. "Plenty."

The two of them got on the long-distance telephone and called General Johnson in Washington. They suggested to NRA's beleaguered boss that he put the situation up to President Roosevelt and get RFC to turn on the heat.

Exactly what Johnson did can not be reported here. Next day, however, Chairman Jesse Jones, of RFC, talked over the phone to a high official of the bank in question.

What Jones said also is something that probably never will become history.

But almost immediately the strike was settled on the basis of the Haas-Dunnigan agreement.

And here's the anti-climax. Father Haas, who had worked so conscientiously to bring about a settlement, was found soon after in the depths of aggrieved emotions.

A bank official had called him and told him in so many words that "The right-thinking citizens of Minneapolis are of the opinion the best thing you can do is pack your ——— bag and get out of town."

The financiers had decided the bewildered priest was the man who had engineered that fatal pressure from Washington. Actually, he hadn't been told what had been going on in that respect.

President Roosevelt, incidentally, refused to take an open hand that strike although he was importuned to do so while passing through Minnesota on his way home from Hawaii recently.

Observers remember, though, that when Gov. Olson left the special train at Winona after riding through the state, the President gave him a significant farewell in the presence of reporters.

"Don't forget," the president was quoted as saying while shaking hands with Olson, "that I'm going to leave Steve Early (White House secretary) here to run the state and you are going to come to Washington."

PRESS

When the United Textile Workers decided to strike if the cotton mill owners wouldn't meet their terms, Washington was introduced to a new step forward in organized labor efficiency.

Francis John Gorman, directing the walkout and all its works, moved into the Capital City and set up high-pressure headquarters.

Gorman has been holding press conferences twice daily—a record that only the presidential press secretary can equal. Handling additional publicity is Chester Wright, former secretary to Sam Gompers, well-known labor newspaper man, and publicity adviser to A. F. of L. President William Green.

William V. Lawson, who directed dissemination of the flood of publicity NRA has received in the past fourteen months, has resigned his post. Tomorrow he will become assistant to George A. Sloan, president of the Cotton Textile Institute, with offices in New York City. As chief of press staff he'll run a swell show.

A former Washington correspondent and later an advertising agency representative, Lawson set up in NRA the most pretentious publicity organization Washington has seen since George Creel ran the Committee on Public Information during war days.

Literally tons of materials have gone out of this bureau. During early code days Lawson had a dozen trained reporters covering hearings and turning out play-by-play reports of the proceedings for the benefit of the general press. He edited a weekly NRA eight-page paper and put out two clip sheets. Radio and movies and speakers came under his direction. Sixty-five employees concentrated on publicity. He can do more with fewer hands now.

TEST

A vital test of the whole New Deal financial program is heading up backstage on the B. M. T. bond issue.

The New York bankers started it. They floated an eight million dollar issue for the New York subway and completely ignored the new securities commission. The bankers purchased all the bonds themselves and deliberately forgot to register them.

They knew what they were doing. Their high class lawyers unquestionably told them how to go about it. Only a high class lawyer could have figured it out.

By buying all the bonds themselves, they kept the transaction wholly within New York state. The subway operates only in New York state. Therefore their action was hardly subject to federal regulation, but they then listed the bonds on the New York Stock Exchange so they could be bought in any state.

SLIP

Without making any announcement the securities commission started checking up on the transaction. It has now sent out questionnaires to learn who holds the bonds and to find whether they really have been sold in interstate commerce.

The commission apparently was unsure of its ground and might have ducked the affront, had not the bankers, with their customary lack of public relations acumen, decided to tease the New Deal bulls with a red bandana.

The B. M. T. officials decided to issue another two millions of bonds in the same neat manner. All they knew was that they needed the money and here was a way to get it. They gave insufficient consideration to the effect their action would have on the government, which was then mildly investigating the first transaction.

The result is that the affair now is war to the knife and knife to the hilt, with every prospect that it will ultimately go to the supreme court.

SHREWDNESS

It was a very good friend of General Johnson—a pal, in fact—who has been getting him all his good publicity lately, unbeknown to him.

This anonymous pal first let out the news that the General had quarrelled with the president and resigned, that the president had called him back and restored him to the NRA throne.

In fact, some of the general's good friends suspect that the pal planned the resignation. The idea behind it would be, of course, that after Johnson's resignation, industry would set up a clamor for his return, and thus he would outwit his enemies.

Whether or not it was planned that way, the general's enemies have certainly been outwitted, temporarily at least.

METHOD

The recent sidling-off movement of the government bond market had a method behind it. It was not due to lack of confidence in Mr. Morgenthau's radio speech. That speech was well received in financial quarters.

Instead, the bankers apparently decided they could make quick money by selling their present holdings of governments and taking Mr. Morgenthau's new bonds, coming out this month, at cheaper prices. They would get a higher price for their present holdings than they would have to pay for the new bonds.

Mr. Morgenthau may fool them by delaying the financing until next month.

EXTORTIONS

If the crude extortion effort against President Roosevelt and his family had occurred in Washington, it probably would have been kept from public notice. Secret service men have a way of hustling such threateners off to a confinement hospital here without anyone being the wiser. It has happened much oftener than people know. All the threateners are, of course, mental cases.

This current case got out because the secret service decided to go to the New York police and have the man formally arrested.

SHOWERS

Several New Dealers are putting up their umbrellas in preparation for Jimmy Warburg's forthcoming book: "It's Up To Us." He is President Roosevelt's moderate money adviser who doesn't live here any more.

The book is supposed to criticize President Roosevelt's philosophy by contending that, instead of healing the sick economic body politic, Mr. Roosevelt is insisting that the patient also reform so much that he will never be sick again.

Bank of America's progress during the 30 years of its existence provides an interesting chapter in the history of American banking.

Bank of America pioneered statewide branch banking in California and thus blazed a trail for the development of this very constructive form of banking throughout the nation.

Every facility of Bank of America is not only tuned to the times, but, in many instances, is a step ahead.

"I have taken my share of big sailfish, marlin, and tuna," says Rex Beach, sportsman and noted writer. "I know what a rod-and-reel contest with these heavy fighters does to a man's vitality. OFFICERS HEAR U. S. ATTORNEY TUESDAY NIGHT

Pierson N. Hall of Los Angeles, United States district attorney, has been secured as the principal speaker for the regular monthly meeting of the Orange County Peace Officers' association tomorrow night, it was announced today by Constable Jesse Elliott.

Hall, a city councilman of Los Angeles before receiving his appointment by President Roosevelt, will be featured on a banquet program in the blue room of James' cafe at 8:30 p. m. Elliott will serve as program chairman.

The topic of the main speech has been left up to Hall, although he is expected to talk about his new work, and perhaps the Roosevelt administration. The meeting will be open to the public, and anyone wishing to hear Hall will be welcomed following the dinner.

Verne Keller, president of the association, who was seriously hurt in an accident on July Fourth while escorting a parade in Huntington Beach, will attend the meeting after being confined to the hospital for many weeks.

CRASHING BREAKERS, FREAK TIDES CONTINUE TO MENACE HOMES IN NEWPORT DISTRICT

Freak tides and crashing breakers continued to menace beach homes in West-Newport last night, although the seas which Sunday undermined homes along the ocean front and tumbled one small summer house into the sea had calmed somewhat.

Sand has been washed from beneath many homes along the perilous strip between Thirty-sixth and Fifty-eighth street, leaving the houses perched on unprotected pilings. Many residents left their homes as the danger increased. Nearly 60 feet of protecting beach has been cut away in this area during the past month.

City officials, working yesterday to forestall the elements, have placed a barricade of concrete at the unprotected end of Thirty-sixth street, and it is expected that the embankment will be extended in order to protect the entire area. If possible, nearly $500,000 worth of property is endangered along the strip of menaced beach.

The home of Mrs. C. Anderson, at 3814 Seashore drive, collapsed Sunday evening, its entire front end unprotected from the ravages of the tides. Farther down the street, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Thomas, at 3606 Seashore drive, was moved from its waterfront lot to a safer position inland. Emergency crews of workmen were busy yesterday reinforcing pilings and building up bulkheads as protection.

The tides of Sunday and yesterday are a recurrence, although not as severe, of the huge breakers that suddenly swept the Southern California coast line August 22 and tore away protecting beach from in front of these homes. The waves are described as being not particularly high, but as having a rip-tide motion that cuts away the protecting sand.

Start of harbor development work in the near future is expected to provide further protection against any recurrence of such tides. It was explained today that approximately 8,000,000 cubic yards of dredged material will be deposited on the ocean front, making a beach nearly 200 yards wide along the entire ocean front. Engineers say that if groins are built to hold this, permanent protection would be provided.

The high tides and heavy breakers are caused by ocean storms, meteorologists and oceanographers reported yesterday, causing a shifting or rocking motion in the beach lying between the California coast and Catalina island. The phenomenon could not be caused by underwater earthquakes, it was explained, as such disturbances would cause complete tidal waves, rather than the short, choppy breakers experienced this week.

LA HABRA, Sept. 4.—Charles E. Zaring, secretary of the La Habra Business Men's association, announces there will be a dance sponsored by the organization on October 27th, at the Woman's Club house, for the purpose of raising funds for the purchase of neon signs to be placed at the two entrances to the city. LA HABRA, Sept. 4.—A group of young women from La Habra were invited to be the week-end guests of Mrs. J. A. Akers and daughter, Elizabeth, at their San Clemente summer home. During the week end visit, a committee meeting was to be held to discuss the organization of a Junior A section to the La Habra Woman's Improvement club of La Habra. This division is to consist of young women just out of high school and college, and will be an auxiliary to the mother club. Those attending this meeting and house party were Edith McClure, Eugenia Arnold, Alvada Siebe, Norma Rowley and Ruth Snow.

THREE JAILED IN HIJACKING OF HOLLY SUGAR

Believed to have knowledge concerning the hijacking of a load of sugar from the Holly Sugar company last Thursday, three Long Beach men were jailed by police and sheriff's officers last night for investigation of robbery and conspiracy to commit grand theft.

The men arrested are Jack Cassidy, 32, Paul F. Roper, 40, and George W. McGee, 46. They are said to have approached another of the sugar company drivers yesterday and propositioned him to join with them in stealing another load of sugar. The driver refused and gave the license number of their car to officers, who traced the ownership and placed the men under arrest at their homes.

Although the three defendants disclaim any knowledge of the theft of 276 sacks of sugar from the truck driven by Everett Corneil, which was stolen at a point of a gun last week, they have refused to give satisfactory explanations of their conduct yesterday, according to officers.

FOUR MEN BOOKED ON DRUNK CHARGES

Four men were booked at the county jail on drunk charges yesterday, including one who attempted to escape from officers.

C. P. McGinniss, 33, R. D. 3, Box 3, Anaheim, did not resist the thought of going to jail on a charge of drunkenness and it required the combined efforts of Deputy Sheriffs Fred Swayze, Ezra Stanley and Claude Potter to get him into the bastille. He was arrested in Atwood at 9:30 p. m.

Anton Montag, 36, Oklahoma, was booked for drunkenness at 4:05 o'clock last evening by Deputy Sheriff Walter Dungan.

S. F. Davis, 63, Tustin, was released on $25 bail yesterday afternoon after being booked in the morning for drunkenness by Chief John Stanton of Tustin.

I wish to express my sincere appreciation to my many friends who supported me in the Primary Election and hope for your support Nov. 6th.

HARBOR BODY APPOINTED AT NEWPORT SOON

A harbor commission for Newport Beach will be appointed at the next regular meeting of the beach city council, slated for September 17. It was decided at last night's meeting, with George A. Rogers to be named as its first member. The council intimated last night that the election of Rogers as first president of the body would be recommended with appointment of the committee.

The motion for the appointment of the commission, which will act as an advisory board to the city, was made by Councilman Paul Ellsworth, following a request for the action by Claude A. Pullen. City Attorney Roland Thompson was instructed to draw up the necessary ordinance permitting the appointment by Mayor Hilmer in two weeks.

Probe Water System

City Engineer R. L. Patterson, following complaints regarding the city water supply, was granted permission to make a temporary connection with the Laguna Beach water system and to purchase water from the Laguna Beach water system and to purchase water from Laguna in order to allow a complete analysis and investigation of the Newport water system.

Valdemar Sorensen, wharfinger in charge of the municipal pier at Balboa, was heard in a request to the council to have his contract with the city changed to allow him to sell dead as well as live bait. Sorensen contended it would be impossible for him to continue caring for the Balboa pier if allowed to sell only live bait. The case was carried over until the next meeting in order to allow an investigation of the matter, and a report from Balboa merchants selling dead bait.

Petitions from the Cole Boat Works, and from Brown's Boat Works, to allow leasing of adjacent property, in order to permit expansion of piers and moorings, were laid on the table for a report from the city engineer. The engineer gave as his opinion that the matter was out of his hands, as the government was handling all harbor matters.

Placentia Thief Escapes With $16

Frightened away while burglarizing the Placentia home of W. H. Schumacher, a thief escaped with jewelry and other loot valued at $16 Saturday night. It was reported to sheriff's officers.

When Schumacher returned to his home at 8 o'clock, he heard running footsteps in the house and found a rear bedroom window open. Investigating, he found that a watch, gold watch chain, watch fob, leather wallet and box containing 35 pennies had been stolen. Tracks were found leading from the house through an orange orchard to where the thief had parked his car.

FERTILIZATION OF FRUIT LAND IS DISCUSSED

Fertility of the orchard soil is of primary importance in connection with the growing of citrus fruits, states Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg. Through experience of citrus growers and experimentation carried on by investigators over a period of years, it has definitely been established that it is necessary to add materials and fertilizers carrying certain elements to the soil in order to maintain fertility.

"Organic matter is recognized as necessary for several reasons, one of the most important being for stock and thus form a portion to supply food for the many forms of beneficial bacteria," Wahlberg said. "It is absolutely necessary for soil bacteria to function for the liberation of many of the elements required by the tree. The population of beneficial bacteria will not maintain itself to an optimum degree without this supply of organic substances. An ideal number of bacteria working within the soil makes for greater fertility, providing elements to the tree for the growth and production of tree and quality fruit."

"A live soil containing decaying organic matter makes an ideal environment for the growth and development of the beneficial bacteria."

"The question of using shavings and sawdust as a fertilized material is often submitted. Such materials, although of organic basis, are very slow to break down and do not offer a satisfactory source of organic matter. In some cases they have been known to inhibit the growth of plants and trees. Shavings and sawdust are sometimes used as litter for bedding for stock and thus form a portion of the bulk of manures. These are

EXPENSES FOR NEW YEAR WILL TOTAL $7300

Hoping to increase their membership to 2000 before the end of this year, Orange county, Boy Scouts will inaugurate a financial drive the first week in October, according to Harrison White, chief executive of the county Boy Scout council.

"This will not be just another drive for money, but a literal crusade of understanding," White said. "We are not asking for money support but for boy support. It is our aim to see that additional boys have the opportunity to develop habits of conduct, attitudes of mind and a sense of values consistent with balanced citizenship."

The county organization now has 1700 members, an increase of 400 over that of last year. The Scouts expect to enlist 300 new members during the drive, beginning next month.

Members of the financial committee and executive board have prepared their budget on a cost program not to exceed $5.50 per boy for a year's work. This is a marked decrease over the amount of $7.50 assessed each boy in 1933. White pointed out. Operation expenses for the new term will approximate $7300. With a smaller number of boys, the old program cost $8200.

Under the new program eight new troops are now being organized. The Scout council now contains 61 troops.

much better materials to use for litter or bedding from the standpoint of fertilizer use. They include bean straw, grain straw, leaves, shredded corn fodder or even discarded alfalfa hay. The latter decompose more readily and lend themselves to the bulky organic fertilizers for tree-feeding."

The farm advisor's office has prepared a list of various fertilizers commonly used in Orange county, which may be obtained upon request.

HOT WATER FOR A QUICK MORNING SHOWER COSTS LESS THAN THE CREAM IN YOUR CUP OF COFFEE

You know how a quick morning shower "sets you up" for the day? Well, the most convenient way to have it every morning — with an automatic gas water heater that is ready with hot water the moment you step under the shower — costs less than the cream in your cup of coffee.

The number of times the hot water faucets are turned on in the kitchen, laundry, and bathrooms of the average home during a month is very large. You would be amazed at the low cost of natural gas to you if you could divide your small bill by the number of times natural gas serves you and your family during the month.

The actual cost of automatic water heating with natural gas is so small that you can only compare it with other trifling expenses — anything that costs on the average of a nickel a day!

That Funny Old Story About Aluminum Pots

Recently I published a very fine recipe for canning one's tomato soup and after making the soup in an aluminum kettle, its use brought up in the mind of a reader these questions, which may also answer your own doubts on these points.

"I ask a question regarding the tomato soup, given a few days ago. I made some of the soup, and it is grand, but I cooked it in an aluminum kettle after I added the soda. Will that be injurious to the soup? Also, after adding the soda should the soup be skimmed?"

Exhaustive experiments have been made in laboratories in no way connected with the aluminum industry, and nothing could be found that in any way indicated that an aluminum cooking vessel made the food cooked in it, injurious to human beings. This question comes up every year, and the answer is still, NO, aluminum cooking vessels do not injure food, nor those who eat it.

I see no reason why the soup should be skimmed after the soda has been added. In skimming away this thick froth, much of the food value is taken from the soup.

Beet Relish

1 quart finely chopped cooked beets
1 cup freshly grated horseradish
1 quart finely shaved raw cabbage
2 cups brown sugar
2 tbsps. salt
Hot vinegar
Cook small tender beets, slip off the skin and run them through the coarse knife in the food chopper. Combine with the freshly shredded cabbage and the grated horseradish (buy the h. r. in weak vinegar). With these ingredients mix the sugar and salt, letting stand for a few hours, stirring occasionally until the sugar has melted. Then pack it into hot clean jars, and fill the jars to overflowing with weak hot vinegar. Seal at once, place jars in hot water and process (boil) for 1 hour.

S. S. Class Picnic
Among pleasant events of the past week was the picnic which members of the Mater Bible class of First Presbyterian church held in San Juan Capistrano at the Trabuco Canyon home of the F. D. Plavans.

There were 46 class members and their relatives present to enjoy the outing with several special guests including the Rev. O. Scott McFarland, pastor of the church, Mrs. McFarland, Harry Lewis, superintendent of the Sunday school, Mrs. Lewis, and Dr. H. McVicker Smith, class teacher, and Mrs. Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Plavans had arranged for the picnic dinner to be enjoyed on the shady lawn, and guests especially enjoyed the surroundings, and felt that the splashing of irrigating waters added the final touch. Each one contributed to the appetizing picnic menu.

Party Guests Shower Variety of Gifts On Bride-elect

Miss Lillie V. Rasmussen, who today is to become the bride of Verne H. Kastler of Long Beach, found herself the honor guest at a delightful party given late the past week by Mrs. Lida E. Kerr in her home, 406 West Sixth street.

Flowers and greenery decked the home where some 35 guests had been invited to share the pretty affair. Mrs. Harry Lacy assisted Mrs. Kerr in planning entertainment features, chief of which was a lively contest of cootie. Mrs. Charles E. Rasmussen made high score in the game, and received first prize with consolation going to Mrs. Leslie Whitson.

When prizes were awarded it was the signal for Mrs. Kerr to bring in the wide variety of beautiful gifts which guests had selected for the bride-elect. These were passed for inspection as Miss Rasmussen opened each prettily wrapped package in turn.

Concluding the hospitality Mrs. Kerr served ice cream and a cleverly decorated wedding cake whose pink and white icing was adorned with a small bride and groom.

Miss Rasmussen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Rasmussen, former Iowans now living at 406 West Sixth street. Mr. Kastler is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Kastler of near Webster City, Iowa. The two families have been friends for many years, their close association beginning with the great-grandparents of the young people in pioneer days in Iowa. However, Miss Rasmussen and Mr. Kastler never met until after the bride-elect and her family came to California from Iowa a few years ago.

STORY BY NAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

The two girls, still inside the cave, said, "Is there some way we can save ourselves from being left here in this dark and chilly place?"

"Let's dig a tunnel through the earth. We all can work for all we're worth. We'll see who digs the fastest. Come on, we can have a race."

Then Scouty said, "Don't think I'd shrink, but I know that your scheme won't work. I thought of that myself, and I have looked around a bit."

"The whole floor's made of solid stone. We may as well let it alone. Some other plan may work, though, if we just can think of it."

"Gee, I'm tired thinking," Duncy said. "I wish that I could go to bed. Perhaps, if we could sleep, we'd dream our way right out of here."

"Aw, hush up," Windy would get us outside. Say, being in this big hole is affecting you, I fear."

Just then they heard the hunter cry, "Cheer up, tots, 'cause I think that I have found a way to move that rock so you can all join me."

"You've all seen circuses, no doubt, where elephants push things about. I'll bet that my pet elephant can do it, too. We'll see."

Now, Jumbo had dropped to the ground to take a snooze and sprawl around. The hunter shouted.

"Hey, get up. There's work that must be done."

"The rest of us have tried. We're through, 'cause we are not as strong as you. Walk up and push that rock away. For you it should be fun."

The elephant heard what he said, and very promptly put his head against the rock and pushed real hard. Soon came a merry shout.

The rock rolled from the passageway and, as the hunter cried, "Hurray," all of the Tinties left the cave, real tickled to rush out. (Copyright, 1934, NEA Service, Inc.)

Corn was easy on improvement in crop weather and closed 1/4 cent lower to 1/2 cent higher. Oats finished 1/4 cent higher on buying support with the continued lack of public interest in the local pit.

LESSONS FROM ANALYZING ELECTION FIGURES

As the figures from the election are being studied, interesting and significant facts appear. The dominating influence and power of Los Angeles county is the most important fact that stands out. It is a remarkable fact that outside of Los Angeles county in each case, we might say that the moderate candidates would have won the nomination.

In the state, outside of Los Angeles county, Young received between 13,000 and 14,000 more votes than those cast for Merriam. The vote for Merriam, inside of Los Angeles county, being 127,715. The vote received by Young was 24,02. Mr. Merriam having the majority of 103,693. Mr. Merriam beat Mr. Young in the state by 90,668. Hence former governor Young cuts Merriam's lead down by over 13,000 or in other words he carried the state outside of Los Angeles county by that same vote.

Now let us note the vote of Sinclair and Creel. Mr. Sinclair beat Creel in Los Angeles county by approximately 141,000 votes. But he beat Mr. Creel in the state by 117,000 votes. In other words Mr. Creel outside of Los Angeles county cut Sinclair's lead down from 141,000 to 117,000. The difference is approximately 24,000 votes. Mr. Creel beat Mr. Sinclair in the state outside of Los Angeles county.

In San Francisco county, Creel beat Sinclair by 17,000 and Young beat Merriam by between 6,000 and 7,000. This vote clearly emphasizes again the fact that Los Angeles county and city are centers of extremes. San Francisco is a typical modern city. Undoubtedly the position which Governor Merriam took in the strike aided him with many of the Republicans in San Francisco county. Were it not for this, Young very apparently would have carried the city by a very much larger majority.

We believe that a study of these figures will result in some interesting conclusions in respect to the attitude in these respective cities, the propaganda that is carried on, and the general policy that is pursued. It is difficult to produce extremists when personal rights and property rights are properly safeguarded and protected and when neither one is emphasized to the point of elimination of the other. It is no wonder that the San Franciscans can hardly understand the extremists in Los Angeles county. They fail to notice how these extremists are produced.

We recall the last May Day when Mr. Rolph was mayor of San Francisco and there was a parade formed, which the dispatches said was radical and led by communists. What did Mr. Rolph do? He sent down his city police who helped them organize and protected them as they marched up the avenue to the mayor's office where Mayor Rolph delivered an address. They marched away unmolested and held such meetings as they desired. There was no excitement, there were no extreme views emphasized, and there were none who could be aroused to further extremes by virtue of the marchers and meeting holders being denied their rights. In Los Angeles county on the same day meetings were broken up, men were clubbed, the red squad was busy breaking heads, and one part of the city was excited into the belief that the "Red Russians" were about to take the citadel, while the other section was aroused over the denial of constitutional rights and the injustice and brutality of police.

We are not writing of this from the moral point of view at all, Grant that both methods are wrong or that both are right, the result of the strategy is that the people of moderate views are forced by the Los Angeles method to join one camp or the other of extremists either under the compelling influence of fear on the one hand or indignation on the other. It is unfortunate that extremes produce extremes. The wise course as is evidenced in our judgment by the vote in the rest of the state does not lie in skirting either edge.

THE PEACH CROP OF THE COUNTRY

According to a newspaper despatch, the Connecticut peach crop was limited to six peaches. All through the East and the Middle West, the peach crop has been almost a total failure. In the East, many of the peach trees were winter killed by reason of the excessive cold which spread over the whole region. In the middle west, the drought of spring and summer was responsible for the failure of the crop.

Practically all of the peaches in the eastern market came from the south and the Pacific coast. Fortunately, there was an ample supply to meet the ordinary needs of the people in every section of the country; but the usual surplus which is canned was wanting. As a result the Easterners generally will not be able to eat their own canned peaches. They will be compelled to turn to the Georgia and the Pacific Coast brand.

This scarcity of peaches in regions where they are usually abundant ought to make us grateful that we live in a country that stretches over a great area. If this country's area was cut up into the small states which exist over the European area, where each state is trying to become self-sufficient by shutting out the product of other states, we should have to be satisfied with the limited products of our own area. As most of us look upon the peach as one of the most luscious of all the fruits, it would be quite a hardship for the people of Connecticut to be limited to the six peaches grown in its orchards.

Incidentally, we are told that the potato crop in Arrostook County, Maine, is the largest for years. There will be potatoes enough in Maine to keep the country well supplied.

The law of compensation seems to work out pretty well, even in cold New England. Perhaps that region may be able to supply potatoes in exchange for peaches, and every one will be happy. Surely, this is a remarkable country, in which the people can eat strawberries from February to August, fresh peas nearly all the year round, and other fruits and vegetables of varied kinds "out of season."

FEDERAL AID AND COLLEGE STUDENTS

There is some criticism heard against the project of giving financial aid to college students from Federal funds to carry on their studies. In the aggregate it amounts to quite a sum; but the amount given to each student is quite small. It is just enough to help the needy student over the roughest places. It does not begin to amount to the sum charged by private colleges for tuition.

There is little to justify the criticism in the light of what state colleges and universities are doing for their students. These public institutions charge no tuition at all. The expenses of the student are kept down to a minimum through the generosity of the state.

And even if this were not so, there is nothing out of place in using Federal funds to help a boy to get his education in a time like this, any more than there is in giving emergency relief to those who are unemployed. It is quite likely that many of these students would be among the unemployed were they not in college. It is better that they should be doing something to make them more self-sufficient than to be walking the streets looking for jobs which do not exist.

These are extraordinary times. Were it not for the relief agencies of the Federal government we should tremble for the stability of our institutions. There is nothing more dangerous to a stable society than millions of men and women out of work and growing desperate in their misery. From that we have been saved by the measures adopted by the Federal government.

JACKSON MEASURES UP

Orange County can congratulate itself in the sheriff's race that it has two candidates, who are fine men, in the run off from which to choose one. Four years ago Logan Jackson the present Sheriff emerged from the primaries to run the election off with Sam Jerigan. The Register supported Mr. Jackson and Chief of Police Pierson of Fullerton in the primaries and supported Mr. Jackson in the finals. He was elected by a large majority.

This year Chief Howard of Santa Ana, was eliminated, coming in third due to the remarkable showing of Don Wilkie.

While we would not adversely criticize Captain Wilkie, we are confident of the purpose and character of Logan Jackson and fully realize that from the standards that have been set up by the religious forces of the county Mr. Jackson measures up full and complete.

With his re-election these forces will know that they have a constant friend in the sheriff's office and one who can be commended to the greatest degree.

The Register is happy to commend him and to stand by him as it always has even while congratulating itself that both candidates stand unequivocally for law enforcement.

Mr. Jackson, however, has in his own personal life and standards caught the spirit and the temper of the people of his county.

Amateur's Return San Diego Union

A great deal of solemn drive is being written these days on the strange series of defeats American athletes have suffered in international competition. Tennis probably provokes more discussion than any other field of competition. Golf runs it a close second. In both cases tons of newspaper have been expended in deploring, analyzing or welcoming the upsets.

Perhaps we are merely swelling the chorus, but we want to join the welcomers. This business of reading, year after year, that America had once more walked off with the Davis Cup began to get tiresome along about 1927. Up to that time, unless we've garbled the records, this country had won for six or seven consecutive years. Now for eight straight years we have been put out of the running. Worse, England and other countries began to walk off with other championships. Foreigners—and very mediocre foreigners at that, began to hand around the heavy-weight championship belt.

We have no explanation to offer for this change, unless we can cite the law of averages without inviting an indictment for treason.

But we should like to suggest that it's doing a world of good to American athletics, particularly amateur athletics. In proof we invite any reader to compare the space devoted to local tennis in 1934 with the tennis news of 1926.

Which proves, we suspect, that it's a lot more fun to come up from behind than to win in a walk. Big time tennis and golf in the walkway days were professional competitions, to all practical purposes. Today, with all the masterminds fighting among themselves, the mere amateur, week-end-only player has his chance. And he's coming back.

Madness and Genius San Francisco Chronicle

A list of mad kings and eccentric geniuses compiled by Professor E. W. Twitwell of the University of California, shows a high percentage of lunatics among the great of the earth.

It does not, however, prove that lunacy is an essential part of the equipment for greatness, but merely that it is not necessarily a barrier. And since those in prominent places are under closer scrutiny their aberrations are most clearly discerned.

Sanity remains the soundest foundation for greatness. All persons are cautioned not to go around acting nutty on the theory that it will be a title to fame and fortune.

More Truth Than Poetry

THE GOOD EARTH

Those dives of Mr. Beebe's
Give me the heebie-jeebees,
To stroll amid
Gigantic squid,
And creatures of the sort,
Which if they chanced to meet
Would crack your bones and eat
Upon the spot—
Well, I should not
Call that alluring sport.

The stratospheric flyer
The goal of whose desire
Lies somewhere high
Above the sky,
I fail to understand.
I think that vacant spaces
Must be dull, dreary places.
I could not find
Content of mind
Excepting on the land.

Perhaps I am a coward—
I know I was not dowered
With any flair
To sail in air
Or dive beneath the sea.
This planet that we dwell on
Live, marry, buy and sell on
And, by and by
Wax old, and die,
Is good enough for me.

AT THE SAME OLD STAND

Anyway the last flight into the blue proved that the stratosphere is still there.

Now my lander for goodness sakes don't start that candy business, every time Nora has a day off it's the same old candy song, ma said, and I said, "But G, ma, gosh, I haven't been aloud to make candy for a heck of a while; when can I make some, ma?"

O, some time, ma said, and I said, "But jimmies, ma, gosh, when?"

I just told you some time, didn't I? ma said, and I said, I know, ma, but when is some time?

Well it's certainly not this present moment, so set your mind at rest on that point, ma said, and I said, Well is it tomorrow, ma?

No it's not tomorrow, if I meant tomorrow I'd say tomorrow, ma said, and I said, Well then is it the day after?

Now for land sakes don't begin a continuous endless stream of times and dates, ma said. I forbid you to mention another date, she said, and I said, Well then, G, ma, when is it, if I know when I won't have to ask. When is some time, ma? I said.

Some time is some vague indefinite time in the unspecified future, ma said, and I said, Does it ever mean tomorrow, ma?

Now there you go, didn't I absolutely forbid you to name another date, ma said, and I said, That wasn't another date, ma, that was one of the same ones. Does it, ma? I said.

Does it what? Never mind, I don't care to hear the answer, if I'm not a nervous wreck it's no grate credit to you, ma said.

Thoughts On Modern Life

BY GLENN FRANK

IF TRADITION CONTROLS

The great question before the people of the United States is not a matter of the minutiae of current legislation or the strategies of current campaigns, but the deeper question of whether, as a people, we are to face the future in the spirit of inflexible tradition or the spirit of flexible intelligence.

We are confronted by an unprecedented situation calling for an unprecedented willingness to consider unprecedented policies.

Neither an irrational radicalism nor an irrational reaction is tolerable under these circumstances.

We shall escape the phase of social disruption, through which so much of mankind has lately passed, only through the exercise of a cool and constructive intelligence that refuses to let its approach to reality be obscured either by the traditions of reaction or by the theories of radicalism.

We are not, as I have often said, an easily inflammable people. I have confidence in the corporate capacity of the American millions, under responsible leadership, to control their own destiny through the peaceful processes of intelligence. But, whatever our own reckoning of the probabilities may be, it is but the part of wisdom to face, without willful self-delusion, the alternative possibilities.

If inflexible tradition controls, we shall inevitably go the way that peoples have always gone when they have lost the capacity or lacked the will intelligently to adjust themselves and their institutions to new circumstances. We shall either fall victim to the subversive forces of revolt, or sell ourselves into slavery to the regimentering forces of dictatorship.

If we should go the way of revolution we would be gambling with vast uncertainties, for of all the revolutionary concepts now in the field, from Fascism to Communism, none, in my judgment, offers a tithe of the possibilities of enriched and stabilized life for the millions that lie latent in the American tradition of private enterprise and political liberty—if we will but modernize these two philosophies with intelligence.

If we should go the way of dictatorship, we would suffer the tragic loss of all those priceless values, alike in government and in enterprise, without which we might be a nation of contented slaves but never a nation of creative freemen.

And thus the forces of tradition would bring about, as a result of their inflexibility, the destruction of the very values they pretended to defend.

FADS AND FRILLS

We will have to stop and examine the fads and frills again. They are getting all mixed up in the minds of city fathers and bewildered fathers and mothers. The fads and frills must be eliminated from the budget, says the voice of authority. Straightaway the shops, all the active phases of school life, vanish. All boys and girls of pre-adolescence, and up to eighteen, (or sixteen—according to the notion of the authority), must go to school and stay there. No children can engage in paid employment.

Can you see what this does to the schools and to the children? Making bricks without straw was a happy pastime to teaching adolescent boys and girls without the activities that normally engage their interests. Play is the activity of the infant and the child. After childhood the play idea merges into the occupational idea. The child wants to make something, wants to do something, wants to feel that he can change the world about him to the extent of creating some expression of his own thought. He is sent to school and the school is helpless.

This is like tying a colt in the stable, throwing him enough hay to keep him from starving to death and telling him to grow up nicely into a well trained speedy horse. The colt will kick the side of the stable out, and he won't be a well trained useful horse. He won't even be a happy horse.

It is cruel to shut boys and girls in a school that has nothing to offer but lessons from a book, passive listening, a sitting still and a hushed going about. This is in direct opposition to all their natures crave. They need life, activity, creation, joy, cooperation and the hope of arriving at some desired goal.

What are the fads that are being taken out of the schools and why are the children helpless without them? Let us look at the cuts and examine the preserved items.

Woodwork, metal work, shops, laboratories, studios, kitchens, music, art, the manual subjects are out. All the academic subjects are left. How essential are these essentials? By the time a boy or girl has reached junior high or senior high school how much arithmetic is needed? How about cube root? And the plastering and the carpeting and the wall making and the compound proportion? How much of that is essential? Essential to what? How about parsing, endless parsing of sentences? And the long lists of cities that are to be memorized and located? And the history lists, dates and battles and campaigns, how essential are these to adolescent boys and girls who have already shown their anxiety to be doing something? These who have been at work and have been sent back to the schools? Some of these things look very much like fads to me. They might well be curtailed and in most cases, eliminated.

A great group of adolescent boys and girls were sent back to school, stayed for varying short lengths of time, and went away from there. They are out on the highways and byways. The laws say, "Come in." The conditions at school say, "Stay out." These children must come in and stay in. To accomplish that much to the detriment of the schools must be equipped, staffed, and administered for them.

If you tell me there is no money I shall reply that these children are as important to the life of this nation as any of the other applicants for money. We need teachers, supplies, equipment, and we need them right away.

(Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing a three-cent stamped, addressed envelope for reply.)
